The conclusion is that there was, on the part of Mr. Duhme, hareh treatment in deportment and Janguage; that there was at times jealousy, and that both of these occurred under the circumstances referred to, Did these constitute a foundation for separation? Did these constitute extreme cruelty or gross neglect of duty? And here it was proper to awent to what had been pressed on the Court with great force and slequence—that this law should be interpreted in a spirit of liberality, which, in effect, meant that if the Court was satisfied the partice could not live happily together; it should make every effort to construct the law so as to find the existence of the statutory causes alleged in the picture. It was said there were three partice here—the State, the plaintiff, and the defendant—and that it was his duty to look to the interest of the State. He recognized the proposition as to the parties, but in its objection the State took care to protect itself, providing extreme crucky and gross neglect of duty as grounds of fivorce, but not introducing, as a third provision, that, if the parties could not live happily together, they were to be separated.

(On this point file Court read a passage from Sir

Court. Judge Tilden remarked, that after a critical investigation

gine was immediately reversed, but it was too late; the locomotive struck her, tearing off the scalp, and otherwise mangling her in a shocking manner. The body was taken on the train, which had been sent up the road for a load of gravel, and brought to the depot, where Coro-

by Judge Nichols, the Convention stated their objections to the Democratic party, viz :

1. It is executially a Disunion Party.
2. It is a Disorganizing, Destructive Party.
3. It is a Double faced Party—having one spect for the North and another for the South.

4. It is a party with no common policy or fixed principles.
5. It is a Sectional Party.

6. It is a Corrupt Party.
7. It is an Extravagant, Wasteful Party.

We congratulate the country, says the Louis-ville "Journal,"on the result of the deliberations of the convention. It has successfully solved what has been deemed by many an impractica-ble problem. It has presented a platform upon which all honest loyal opponents of the Demo-cracy can rally. Let them to rally, and the verthrow of that co-rupt party is certain.

occupying about an hour.

J dge Carter, after revie ing the grounds upon which the motion was presented, was of opinion that there was nothing suggested which it appeared to the Court ought to have any influence in inducing it to interfere with the verdict of the jury. He then asked Burns if he had any thing to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed.

The Prisoner—Nothing, except that I would thank your Honor to give me a long day.

Judge Carter—Your application, then, shall induce me to change the time, and give you a later day than I had at first designed.

Prisoner—Long life to your Honor!

Judge Carter then proceeded in a solemn manner to puss sentence of execution—ordering the prisoner to be confined in the Jail of Hamilton County until Friday, May 27, 1859, and occupying about an hour.

The following prisoners were also sentenced: John Graham, burglary, se'en years in the Penitentiary. Catharine Harris, grand larceny, one year in the Penitentiary. William Bowman, passing counterfeit money, four years in the Penitentiary-and three years additional term of imprisonment, for having in possession counterfeit money. ENTENCE OF IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE ON COOK In the afternoon, Charles Cook and William Seiter were brought into Court.

Judge Matthews addressed the Court for up ward of two hours, in supporting a motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Cook. Mr. Logan made a lengthened argument in moving for a new trial in behalf of Seiter.

The general grounds taken were that the verdicts were against the evidence, and that there was error in the charge of the Court. Both arguments were very able. Judge Carter reviewed the grounds presented by the counsel, and remarked that the jury were the proper judges as to the facts; if there were any error in point of law, the Supreme Court could revise it. The motions for new trials should be overruled. The prisoners, in answer to the interroga-

No case of extreme crucity, or gross neglect of duty, is made out here, but there is a case of ill-treatment in the modified and subdued form of that expression, and a case, therefore, for an award of alimony. The Court did not think it a proper case to be harsh to Mr. Duhme. They would alipow to her the real estate she possessed at the time of the marriage, also $1,000 in money, and would impose on the respendent the payment of the costs. The custody of the oldest child would be given to the father—that of the youngest to the mother, with mutual access. The object of the Court was to bring the parties together. There was no reason why they should live apart.

Mr. Lincoln took exception to the ruling of the Court. The feed, (which is a very important matter in sewing machine,) is adjustible, and can be so arranged as to sew on the finest fabric, and then run up to any required thickness, with but slight alteration of the tension of the thread,
